FOLHA DE S.PAULO
RESEARCH
CONSOLIDATES
UCDB AMONG THE BEST 100 FROM THE COUNTRY

UCDB's internationalization is highlighted in the Folha University Ranking

The constant evolution of Don Bosco Catholic University was confirmed, once again, by the Folha University Ranking (RUF), released earlier this month. In the ranking carried out annually by the largest newspaper in the country, UCDB is ranked in 87th place - it is the best private university in Mato Grosso do Sul. Among the top five in the state, UCDB is the one that showed the highest overall growth in the evaluation.

In the evaluated items (teaching, research, market, innovation and internationalization), UCDB has advanced significantly in all of them. The biggest highlight is internationalization: in 2016, the same ranking pointed UCDB to 167th place; today, it is in 62nd, an advance of more than 100 positions, occupying the best position among the institutions of MS.

Another constant improvement appears in education that, four years ago, ranked 162nd and, in 2019, is 96th. The survey, in turn, jumped from 146th to 98th.

WHAT IS RUF?

It is an annual assessment of all Brazilian universities that uses national and international data and opinion polls applied by DataFolha. For example, assessments by the Ministry of Education, number of scientific publications, national and international citations, teacher qualifications, patents, partnerships, employers' opinions based on hiring preference, are taken into account, among other aspects.
